A WEEK OF FROLIC

GREAT PREPARATIONS MADE FOR THE FALL CARNIVAL.

A Bewildering Array of Amusements Provided for the People of Indiana This Week.

BIG PARADES AND PAGEANTS
TECUMSEH TO BE MET AT BROAD RIFPLE TUESDAY MORNING.

Attractions Too Numerous to Itemize Have Been Arranged—Will Be Opened To-Morrow.

The first Indianapolis fall carnival will be ready to-morrow morning to be admired of all men—whether they reside in Indianapolis or anywhere else in the world. The gentlemen composing the Fall Festivities Society, which stands sponsor for the event, declare that nothing like it has ever been seen by the people of Indianapolis or Indiana. With the magic wand of money they have secured the talents and best efforts of the men who know how to get up carnivals and the result, they say, will amply justify their boast.

"The Indianapolis carnival is not a street fair," declared D. M. Parry, president of the society, last night, "and we do not want the people to confound it with the street fairs which have become so common. Our event has been got up on the idea that it is to constitute a week of enjoyment for everybody. We will have something to please people of all ages and conditions, and put them in a good humor with themselves and every one else. In other words, next week is to be a grand holiday, a chance for every one to drown his sorrows and troubles in gaiety. As to whether the carnival will amount to much, depends upon the people of Indianapolis. The committee has spared no pains or expense to make the city look as attractive as possible. It has been an up-hill work, too, since this is the first time anything of the sort has been attempted here. Many of our good people have been unable to see anything in it and have declined to share in the necessary expense. We hope to show this class of citizens the error of their ways by doing them good in spite of their short-sightedness. We also desire to make the carnival such an unqualified success that it will be put on a permanent basis and given every year hereafter. It looks now very much like Indianapolis will have the greatest number of visitors next week that has ever passed through its gates. The railroad managers here have received such advice from their agents over the State that they are experiencing serious doubts as to their ability to adequately handle the immense crowds. It is the purpose of the carnival committee to make these throngs of people have a good time, feel glad they came, sorry to leave the city and anxious to return the next time."

EARLY MORNING CALL.
The event of yesterday was the early morning breakfast given by Miss Indiana on top of the monument in Magic Circle to a man friend of hers. The man is a sailor and his name is Peter J. Calarno. Mr. Calarno climbed to Miss Indiana's dwelling place at the exceedingly early hour of five o'clock in the morning. He had an object in calling on the lady in costume, beside partaking of breakfast with her. He wanted to furnish her with some brilliant—in the form of electric light bulbs—to be worn during carnival week. These were attached to the torch which the young woman carries in her left hand, and the sailor took his leave, returning to the earth after an hour and one-half spent very pleasantly, if somewhat perilously. The regular programme of the carnival, consisting of various picture parades, will not begin until Tuesday morning. The amusement features will, however, be opened to the public to-morrow morning and the Magic Circle will be illuminated to-morrow night, at which time the first band concert will take place in the Magic Circle. The entertainments are under the management of Frank C. Bostock and comprise a very wide range of amusements, including bicycle riding in midair on a live electric wire, Lunette, the flying lady, Chiquita, the mid-air, Haggenbeck's Wild Animal Show, the Oriental village with its host of features and a score of other exhibitions. These will be placed at various points, some in the Magic Circle, others in Courthouse square and still others in the streets opening into Washington street in the heart of the city.

AMUSEMENT FEATURES.
A talk with Louis J. Beck, business representative of Mr. Bostock, resulted in some interesting information being obtained. "The shows that are coming here next week are picked attractions, consisting of two of the largest outfits in the country," said Mr. Beck. "One of these comes from Peoria, Ill., in a train of twelve sixty-foot cars, and the other from Louisville, Ky., in a train of fourteen sixty-foot cars. We did an enormous business in Louisville, where the carnival was held under the auspices of the late of Elks. Our original contract was that city called for two weeks, but the success of the exhibition was so great that it was extended another week. The attractions which will be seen in the Indianapolis carnival will be the best in this country and no other carnival outside of the State that we know of. It has twenty cars capable of accommodating forty passengers. The Chiquita merry-go-round—the smallest carousel ever built for the amusement of children—will also be brought here. Chiquita, the little Cuban lady, the smallest mid-air in the world—will hold a reception at the Grand Hotel Tuesday morning. An informal reception will be tendered her at the home of Mrs. Albert Lieber at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. On Thursday morning Chiquita will call upon Governor Mount in the State-house."

THE PAGEANTS.
Preparations for the various parades and pageants to be given on different days next week are being rushed, now that the time is drawing so near. The first street demonstration will be in honor of Tecumseh, and will consist of exciting and stirring and his attending braves from Broad Ripple to the Statehouse Tuesday morning, when the "key" of the city will be delivered to the venerable warrior by Mayor Taggart. The mid-air veteran will be tendered a reception, at which he will preside in all the dignity and grandeur of paint and plumes. The mid-air and military parades will take place Tuesday afternoon. Assurances of participation in this event have been received from the following military bodies and uniformed orders: The Zouaves and National Guard company from Lebanon; the Kokomo Commandery, Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias; Franklin company of National Guard; the Franklin Commandery, Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias; the Martineville Commandery, Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias; the Shelbyville Knights of Pythias; the National Guard companies from Union City, Winchester, Noblesville, Muncie, Anderson, Tipton, Alexandria, Elwood, and Battery A, Indiana Light Artillery. The local battery has agreed to not merely take part in the great parade, but also to furnish its own horses, and further to decorate one of its caissons to appear in the floral parade Wednesday.

A committee, consisting of Admiral Brown, Mayor Taggart and Albert Lieber, has been charged with the duty of providing meals for visiting uniformed organizations on the day of the civic and military parade. Every evening during the week, ending with Friday, the Magic Circle will be illuminated and concerts will be given, in addition to the entertainments in the Oriental village.

Wednesday afternoon the grand floral parade will occur. This will, perhaps, be the most beautiful of all the pageants, since great rivalry exists among the women who will have equipages in line to outdo each other in the matter of richness of embellishments. Automobiles will also form features of the floral parade. Wednesday night comes the allegorical parade, consisting of twenty magnificent illuminated floats, which will illustrate the growth of Indiana. Thursday there will be no parade, owing to the presence in the city of Colonel Roosevelt, although the fire run by the Indianapolis fire department, which has already been announced, will take place. There will also be an interesting and exciting race on Capitol avenue between five speedy automobiles and a running horse. Friday morning comes the parade of merchants and industries. The parade and humorous parade is scheduled for Friday afternoon, and the public is respectfully informed that some surprises will be sprung on it in the afternoon.
The capture of Tecumseh and his reception at Broad Ripple, Tuesday morning, will be in charge of the local Red Men and the Aquatic and Ridiculous clubs. It will be marked by an elaborate water carnival.

MONEY NEEDED.
A feature of this week's carnival which needs emphasizing is the great amount of money needed for the enterprise. The committee in charge of the affair proposes to make it notable and, in the effort to accomplish this, it has been found that the $15,000 originally estimated as the fund required will be inadequate. F. J. Scholz, chairman of the finance committee, is going around among the business men of the city, trying to get additional subscriptions and is meeting with flattering success, although he declares that there is still lacking a spirit of proper appreciation of the character and merit of the enterprise. "The carnival will benefit everybody in Indianapolis who has anything to sell," Mr. Scholz last night, "and not merely benefit them next week, but for many weeks to come, since it will bring people to the city who have never visited it before and they will discover the advantages of Indianapolis as a buying center. I think if the business men understood this thoroughly they would contribute more liberally to the carnival."

To-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock there will be a meeting of the executive committee of the carnival in the Commercial rooms. This committee is composed of D. M. Parry, president, Albert Lieber, vice president, Hugh McGowan, treasurer, E. K. Chapman, assistant treasurer, W. W. Hubbard, secretary, and Max R. Hyman, business manager. The chairman of the various committees in charge of the carnival are: F. J. Scholz, finance; Charles F. Daly, transportation; General James R. Carnahan, parades; Admiral George W. Hyman, decorations; Thomas Taggart, reception; James F. Quigley, public comfort; C. C. Perry, electrical decorations; H. T. Hearsey, floral parade; George W. Bliss, merchants' parade; Charles F. Froeschner, industrial parade; E. K. Chapman, floats; M. J. Scholz, entertainments and privileges; Horace R. Wood, horses and vehicles; Albert Lieber, programme.

The fancy dress ball Friday night will be given under the auspices of the Red Men, who have sent out elegantly engraved invitations. At the ball all of the things of a mysterious nature which occur during the week, including the identity of Tecumseh, will be explained to everybody's satisfaction.

High Wire Performance.
The merchants on each side of Market street between the Statehouse and Capitol avenue have engaged "Kid" Stuart for a high wire exhibition at 2:30 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. daily during carnival week, beginning Monday afternoon. The wire will be strung from the top of the City Club to the top of the Club stables. Each evening during the high wire performance there will be a display of fireworks.
